This workshop concentrates on building the skills necessary to turn English words/phrases/concepts into conceptually accurate ASL images. We'll study classifiers, idioms, figurative language and other common stumbling blocks that we come across in the English language. We'll also take a look at how deaf people use listing behaviors to make the most mundane things, a list, into something visual. Don't miss this opportunity to discover what your work has been missing - the art behind showing what it looks like.

Donna Flanders— A seasoned professional working in the field of interpreting and deafness for 29 years, Donna works on staff at AASD in Clarkston, GA. Donna interprets for the staff and faculty, but also works on special interpreted projects related to education and language nutrition of Deaf children. Donna has taught numerous workshops specifically designed for ASL learners and working interpreters and has also had the pleasure of presenting at several RID national-level conferences.
